MBA and MBA (Executive)

Be true to you
Profile

Looking to make the change from tennis coach to business leader, Nicholas Bartholomeusz chose to study an MBA to develop a solid understanding of business fundamentals.

“RMIT’s program is tailored towards producing managers equipped with the skills to lead, so it was my first choice. Classes are designed to foster a range of learning styles and include plenty of both theory and application opportunities.”

Master of Business Administration (MBA)
Location

Classes will normally be held at the Emily McPherson College Building, a magnificently refurbished heritage property on the corner of Russell and Victoria streets. Classes may also be held at the award-winning Swanston Academic Building and at other locations on RMIT’s City campus.

These programs are also offered through Open Universities Australia.

The MBA gave me a broader understanding of business, enabling me to pursue a career in consulting or finance. Each class provides a practical learning experience. Being an executive member of the Students in Free Enterprise (SIFE) program provided me with great insight into what it takes to manage an organisation and work with different clientele. It provided an opportunity to apply the material learned in class to a real-life project.

The MBA Student Association organises a number of networking events. These are a great opportunity for students from different backgrounds to learn from each other, socialise and to meet industry representatives.

Master of Business Administration (MBA)
Business Administration

These programs are suited to recent graduates with a degree in any discipline but with limited managerial work experience. You will learn how to approach and solve real problems in a global business context.

Learning and Teaching
You will experience a variety of teaching and learning approaches including lectures, tutorials, working independently and in teams. Lectures deliver a comprehensive review of the latest thinking and world’s best practice, while tutorials provide opportunities for facilitated discussion. Factually based case studies are important components of RMIT’s postgraduate business administration programs and add further realism to the learning experience. In addition, you will have access to online and digital resources such as lecture notes, assessment tools, discussion boards and podcasts through myRMIT Studies.

The MBA is delivered in three study periods – Semester 1, Semester 2 and a spring/summer study period. Full-time Master degree students will study four courses per study period and classes are typically held during the day. Part-time students will typically study two or more courses per study period and classes are usually held during the evening. You will move through the program as a cohort, working in teams to benefit from the additional insights and understandings that come from interaction with classmates. Orientation and social activities encourage the development of study circles and instil the value of networking.

Melbourne-based classes will normally be held at the Emily MacPherson College Building, a magnificent heritage property on the corner of Russell and Victoria streets. Facilities include a student lounge, conference suite, teaching theatres and classrooms with the latest multimedia technology, and a rooftop patio with views of Melbourne’s CBD. Some classes may be held at the award-winning Swanston Academic Building.

These programs are also offered through Open Universities Australia.

Assessment
Assessment is ongoing throughout the semester and includes examinations, essays, reports, oral classes, presentations, group projects, research projects and practical assignments. While group assignments are an important component of every course, the focus of the assessment is weighted towards individual performance.

Industry Connections
Programs offered by the Graduate School of Business and Law are supported by strong advisory boards that help steer curriculum development to ensure that RMIT graduates are work-ready and prepared to take up challenging positions within the rapidly changing landscape of business management.

Further Study
The Graduate Certificate in Business Administration is a pathway to the Master of Business Administration (MBA).

Profile
“The MBA is helping me to advance my career by opening new doors and creating a larger network base. My career goal is to specialise in management and strategic consulting.

“I chose to study my MBA at RMIT because it offers a strong mentoring program and a more practical and interactive approach to learning. Each course is challenging and relevant and the lecturers are always willing to go out of their way to enhance the learning experience.”

Jessica Bearzatto
Master of Business Administration (MBA)
Program Structure

The Master degree comprises core and elective courses.

Features

— Undertake coursework that introduces core aspects of business practice.
— Showcase your emerging business expertise and problem-solving ability through compulsory courses in the final stage of the program.
— Explore a complex problem, and test and evaluate potential solutions with industry and community stakeholders in the course Business Research Design.

It is recommended that you follow the sequence of courses presented in the enrolment structure. You will start your MBA journey by undertaking functional courses that introduce business concepts, followed by courses that draw upon the learning experiences acquired and knowledge acquired to focus on strategy development. These courses in the latter part of the program allow you to showcase your emerging business expertise. An outline of the current program structure is provided on this page. All courses are 12 credit points each unless otherwise indicated. To read individual course descriptions, please enter the course code at www.rmit.edu.au.

Industry Connections

In the final stage of the program, you will complete a company project in the course Business Consulting. This involves receiving a detailed brief from an external company and working on the project as a consultant. As part of the process, you will have the opportunity to pitch your ideas and get feedback from the client before presenting your final report to the company’s management team at the end of semester. This course provides you with a hands-on learning experience and a direct link to senior members of the Graduate School of Business and Law’s partnering organisations. Currently these include Telstra, Prudential Investment Company of Australia (PIA) and Siemens.

The program is supported by a strong advisory board that helps steer curriculum development to ensure that RMIT MBA graduates are work-ready and prepared to take up challenging positions within the rapidly changing landscape of business management. The Program Advisory Board is made up of members from KPMG, BMW, Ethical Investment Services, Greenscap, and from boutique consultancy firms such as Advantage Point Business Advisors.

Business Mentoring Program

To assist your career progression and increase your employment opportunities, the MBA provides guidance through a Business Mentoring Program. You will engage in a range of activities including seminars with guest speakers, group work and case studies, individual mentoring and coaching, and career preparation.

The mentoring program covers:

— leadership in the workplace
— power and influence
— judgement in decision-making
— career and self-management
— working in Australian organisations
— working in Asia
— working in a family business

All business mentors hold at least 15 years of experience, are active leaders in their respective fields, and will provide guidance and support for your working life.

Career

Graduates of the arts, business, engineering, health, IT and other fields study this MBA to broaden their career options.

Global Opportunities

Global intensives are a unique feature of the program. You can combine an overseas travel and cultural experience with coursework completed in intensive mode and have this credited towards your degree. They depart during the Australian summer or winter vacations and are usually undertaken in the final semester of the Master degree. If you are planning to include a global intensive as part of your program, you are advised to check that you have the required number of student electives or credit points available.

Entry Requirements

To be considered for admission, you must meet University entry requirements as well as the following program entry requirements.

— An Australian bachelor degree or equivalent, or higher level qualification, in a business (or related) discipline from a recognised tertiary institution with a minimum Grade Point Average of 1.0 (out of 4.0)/50%/Pass; or
— An Australian bachelor degree or equivalent, or higher level qualification, in a business (or related) discipline from a recognised tertiary institution and a GMAT overall minimum score of 550; or
— RMIT Graduate Certificate in Business Administration.

* Applicants with a degree in a non-business or related discipline need to apply for the Graduate Certificate/Master pathway if they wish to complete the Master degree in 1.5 years (full-time). Alternatively, applicants with a non-business or related discipline may be admitted to the Master degree without exemptions and will be required to complete the 16 course program in order to be eligible to graduate with the Master degree.

Pathways

Upon successful completion of the Graduate Certificate in Business Administration you will be admitted to the Master of Business Administration (MBA), which requires the successful completion of a further eight courses.

Advanced Standing

If you have completed an Australian bachelor degree or equivalent, or higher level qualification, in a business (or related) discipline from a recognised tertiary institution, you will receive exemptions from the four business enabling courses.

Credit and Exemptions

Applicants who have successfully completed postgraduate studies in a business (or related) discipline at another institution can have these assessed for credit or exemptions from this program consistent with the principles of the RMIT Credit Policy.
